

Railroad Seeks To Close Depot At Waveland

Mobile and Nashville Railroad Co. is seeking permission to close the Waveland depot, according to a notice received from Mississippi Public Service Commission by Waveland Mayor Garfield Ladner.

A hearing for all interested parties on the matter will be Feb. 15 at the offices of the commission at Jackson.

"I definitely think the closing of the depot would hurt the town. The railroad tried to close the depot once before but was unsuccessful. Waveland is dependent upon the depot for freight and passenger transportation," Mayor Ladner added.

Members of Hancock County Board of Supervisors and other interested parties were asked Monday by Mayor Ladner to attend the hearing at Jackson.

This is the second recent attempt by the railroad to cut service on the Gulf Coast. A hearing on the proposed discontinuance of daily commuter trains Nos. 9 and 12 between Ocean Springs and New Orleans will be Jan. 20.

The railroad had petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to discontinue the commuter trains Jan. 2. The ICC granted a public hearing on the matter in response to a flood of community protest.

Dr. Leo Miller, head of the education department at Mississippi Southern College, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the High School Parents' Association at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.

Development Meeting Set For Jan. 15

As the 1958 program nears completion, plans already are under way for the 1959 Hometown Development Program.

A meeting of all interested representatives of Gulf Coast communities will be at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 15 in the Gold Room of the Markham Hotel at Gulfport. Complete explanation of the program, including new requirements for 1959, will be given by a panel of program representatives.

All persons interested in improving Bay St. Louis are asked to attend this meeting, Mrs. Mabel Green, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, said. She added that Chamber of Commerce participation in the program would be discussed at a board meeting next week.

An estimate of building and repair development in 1958 is gained from a review of building permits issued during the year, which amounted to a value of $508,608.15, Mrs. Green said. This is an increase of $140,845.70 in value over 1957 permits, she added.

Final reports on the 1958 program are due Feb. 1, Mrs. Green said, and awards will be issued at the annual banquet in April at Jackson.

Diphtheria Shots Urged for Children

Because of the current epidemic of diphtheria in nearby areas, Dr. J. T. Maddux, director of the Hancock County Health Department, has urged all parents of children less than 12 years of age and who have not been immunized against diphtheria within the last two years to contact the health department or their family physician immediately for these immunizations.

No cases have been reported in Hancock County to date.

Auto, Several Other Items Are Stolen From Gift Shop

Two thefts, including one of an auto, were reported this week by Hancock County sheriff's department.

Chief Deputy Carl Garcia said FBI authorities will be asked to locate Bob Rannah, about 25, of Laverge, Tenn., suspected of stealing a 1955 Chevrolet owned by Mrs. Will Hill and about $200 worth of purses, rings and other gift items Tuesday from Alfred Renshaw's Gift Shop, about two miles west of Bay St. Louis on US-90. Mrs. Hill is a proprietor of the gift shop.

Rannah, who had been working at the gift shop for some time, had been left behind to take care of the gift shop while the Hill family took a trip. Apparently he left with the car and gift items, late Tuesday afternoon.

The Rannahs were found in a car wrecked on the road at the intersection of the road and the highway.

LIFESAVER—This machine, a recent addition to Hancock County Hospital, actually is two resuscitators in one unit. Charles Perkins, salesman, explains to Mrs. Louise Depreo, head nurse at the hospital. The doll in Mrs. Depreo's arms is being used to demonstrate the effect of the infant resuscitator, which provides controlled pressure flow. This is vital when an infant is born with collapsed lungs. The other resuscitator is used for children and adults. Total cost of the unit was $391.

Hospital Plans Discussed

Wilfred Dawson, Gulfport architect for the proposed Hancock County Hospital, and engineers hired by him to assist with plans for the hospital, met Wednesday at Jackson with representatives of Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care to discuss a list of 106 corrections submitted by the commission after study of Mr. Dawson's final specifications, submitted in December.

Mr. Dawson said, at Monday's meeting of Hancock County Board of Supervisors, that the corrections were of a fairly minor nature and would take little time to comply with. Board members agreed and said that since none of the corrections involved actual structural changes, they could be made easily without vitally changing Mr. Dawson's plans.

When Mr. Dawson said some of the corrections were not necessary, he was told to contact Foster Fowler, executive secretary of the commission, immediately to arrange a meeting with commission representatives as soon as possible.

Asked if he thought corrections in the final specifications could be made within two weeks, Mr. Dawson said he believed they could.

Beat 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard Jr. pointed out that the plans already had been sent to the U.S. Public Health Service for approval. This means final approval of the plans will not be delayed greatly as corrections can be applied to both sets of plans.

Two Physicians Explain

Why New Hospital Is Needed in County

In answer to several questions concerning the community's need and readiness for the proposed 30-bed Hancock County Hospital, two local physicians have said why they feel the community must have and is ready to operate the proposed hospital.

Emergency surgery cases, Negro patients and those patients who might be turned away from the present hospital for lack of space would benefit especially from the new hospital, both physicians agreed.

The present 12-bed hospital is not licensed to perform surgery. Doctors here may only perform first aid on, for instance, an emergency accident victim requiring immediate surgery. The time spent preparing the patient for transportation to another hospital and actually transporting the patient well might be fatally wasted, both physicians said.

The new hospital will have the equipment and license to perform surgery on 99 per cent of the cases with which the staff will come in contact, one physician said. The other 1 per cent will have to be sent to other hospitals because of lack of some very specialized operating room equipment, he added.

At least one person daily is turned away from the hospital because there simply is not space for him, a hospital authority said. "A 12-bed hospital is not large enough to service a community of 15,000," he added.

There are no facilities in the present hospital for housing Negro patients. Although first aid can be given to the Negro accident victim, lack of segregated patient room facilities makes it necessary to transport the colored patient to another hospital for a bed.

One physician said colored mothers would benefit particularly from the new hospital facilities. Presently, the physician said, Negro mothers deliver either in out-of-town hospitals or in their own homes, often with the aid only of a midwife. When the new hospital is opened segregated facilities for their care during and after delivery will exist.

The physicians were asked why a larger hospital with a completely equipped operating room was being installed in a community with no surgical specialists.

One explained that the present hospital staff includes five general practitioners. He further explained that a general practitioner is a physician trained to handle all phases of medical care, while a specialist is trained to treat a specific type of illness.

A general practitioner is licensed to perform any type of surgery, but because of tremendous developments in modern medicine, he usually limits his own operating room work to what is called general surgery. Examples of such are appendectomies, hernia repairs and hysterectomies.

However, the physician said, specialists and equipment for more specialized medical care are readily available.

Serving the hospital as members of the staff will be seven out-of-town physicians, including an internal medicine specialist, a radiologist, a pathologist, two surgeons, an orthopedic surgeon and a pediatrician.

"We've got the specialists as well as the general practitioners. Now all we need is a place for them to work," one physician said.

Credit can be given to the present hospital for its walk-in blood bank, by means of which blood can be obtained here faster than at any other point on the Gulf Coast.

A final question answered by the physicians is the one raised by those who wonder why fees at the small Hancock County Hospital are as high as those at much larger hospitals.

"When we start giving second rate medical care we'll start charging second rate fees," said one.

Cost of operating a small hospital actually is higher than that of a larger one, since many supplies cannot be purchased in quantity, the physician said.

Another factor tending to cut the proportionate cost of operating a larger hospital will be the fact that the nursing staff need not be increased since nurses serving the present load of patients will be able to handle the larger load.

One physician said the number of paying patients would increase since many who can afford to do so go to more fully equipped hospitals than the one here now. The new hospital will be equipped to handle nearly all of these patients.

Mrs. Cuevas Rites Held

Mrs. Alphonse Cuevas, 86, a native of Harrison County, died at 7:45 a.m. Saturday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Felonisa Saucier, of Rt. 2, Poplarville.

The body was taken from Riemann's Chapel at 10 a.m. Sunday to White Cypress Catholic Church where services were at 11 a.m. The Rev. Celestine Pfannenstiel officiated and burial was in Ladner Cemetery.

Born April 5, 1874, she had been almost a lifelong resident of Hancock County.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Maggie Lizana of Kiln, Mrs. Victoria Cuevas of Bogalusa and Mrs. Saucier, and six brothers, Alphonse Malley and Tofield Malley, both of Kiln; Francis Malley, Willie Malley and Napoleon Malley, all of De-deaux community, and Orville Malley of Gulfport.

No One Is Injured As Cars Collide

No one was injured in a two-car collision at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday about 6 feet off US-90 at the Kiln Rd. intersection, Mississippi State Highway Safety Patrolman George Saxon, investigating officer, said.

Driver of one car, Leon Ladner, 79, of Star Rt. Box 599, Bay St. Louis, was traveling north on Kiln Rd., crossing US-90 and driver of the other car, Emmet E. Frederick, 23, Negro, U.S. Army, of P.O. Box 102, Kiln, was traveling west on US-90.

Frederick said he applied his brakes in an attempt to avoid striking Ladner's car and went off the road to the right at the intersection. The left front of Frederick's car hit the right rear of Ladner's car.

Damage to Ladner's car was estimated by Patrolman Saxon at $200 and to Frederick's car at $150. The case was set for hearing late today by justice of the Peace Nellus Rhodes.

The Question

Just about everything in this country has been getting bigger. This trend, the economists confidently tell us with hardly a dissenting voice, is not only sure to continue but to accelerate. They blueprint a future of ever-increasing incomes, ever-improving living standards, the mass enjoyment of luxuries which would have been beyond the imagination of man not long ago.

We are on the verge of explosive break-throughs in physical sciences. The age-old mysteries of space are being fathomed, and soon will be mysteries no more. The miracles of nuclear physics are at hand. Longer, healthier, happier lives for all are promised. And we are not alone. All over the world, peoples and nations are swept along, to varying degrees, in the same tide.

This is fine. Almost everyone wants more money, more of the things that money can buy, more of what we know by the word "progress."

Yet, a nagging question arises—the biggest unanswered question that confronts the changing world. While just about everything is getting bigger, is the greatest resource of all getting smaller? That resource is the individual. Not just people in the mass, but individual people—each different, each unique, each a spirit as well as an appetite. Is the individual in very real danger of being dwarfed by the bigness around him, and of being reduced to a statistic?

It's easy enough to say that it can't happen here, even though we all have seen it happen in vast reaches of the earth. Easy enough, but untrue. This nation was founded on certain concepts—the fullest freedom for all, an unflinching sense of the spiritual nature of man, a passionate regard for the worth of every individual human being. But these, like all other concepts and philosophies, will wither away to nothingness unless they are eternally prized beyond all else and faithfully protected. They must be supported in absolutely specific ways. They demand the highest degree of individual independence and responsibility. If, for instance, we give to government the initiative and the power to regulate and dominate our lives in the name of security, the ultimate end will be the security of the penitentiary. Power once granted to government must always be balanced against a greater power in the hands of the people.

We pride ourselves on our material achievements. But pride can result in a deadly blindness. Other nations, whose concepts are utterly opposed to ours, are producing their own wonders. Communist Russia and Communist China are, so to speak, moving mountains. The whip and the chain, used with dedicated ruthlessness, also can get out the goods, while the soul of man dies.

It took centuries of turmoil, war and revolution to establish the rights of man—the rights of the individual. They can be lost overnight by sins of omission no less than sins of commission. A people whose eyes and minds are fixed on material ends alone will not long remain a free people. They will become merely instruments of power.

There is no foreseeable limit to what we, through our economic, social and political organizations, can achieve. It will be the ultimate irony if, in the light of this, we surrender the individual to material bigness—whether in government or anywhere else. We never had a more urgent need to uphold age-old principles and convictions that make for the only worthwhile kind of progress—confidence in something, faith in ideals, fairness, the determination to defend what one believes to be right.

STEEL MEN GO A-VISITING
In 1958, an American delegation of steel and iron experts visited the Soviet Union, and a Russian delegation came to the United States. As a result, much knowledge was gained by each country of the other's steel industry.

Our American delegation learned that while the Soviet steel industry is only about 40 per cent as large as that of the United States, it is operating at full capacity and produced about 60 million tons in 1958. This compares with about 45 million tons produced in the U.S.A.

Our visiting steel men also learned that Russia has extensive long-range plans for expansion. She is destined to play an important part in Russia's determination to defeat the United States in worldwide economic and political competition.

But it's good to know that steel output is traveling up the recovery road.

Improper Listing of Income Is Most Common Tax Error

This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.

544 Are Killed In Mississippi By '58 Traffic

Mississippi traffic accidents last year cost 544 lives, Public Safety Commissioner Tom Scarbrough has reported.

An increase of 18 deaths over the final 1957 death figure, the 1958 traffic toll might possibly have run higher except for an unusually low Christmas holiday death count.

Only 11 auto deaths occurred in Mississippi between the start of the Christmas holiday and the year's end, although the highway patrol had predicted 15 would die during the Yule period alone.

Commissioner Scarbrough said an alarming high frequency of multiple fatality accidents was chiefly responsible for 1958's increased death rate.

He disclosed that of 437 fatal accidents, 66 were multiple fatality mishaps killing a total of 172 motorists. Forty-one accidents killed two each, 15 killed three each and four resulted in four deaths each. Six died in another single accident, and eight in still another.

Despite the multiple deaths, the last year's traffic toll remained considerably below the 1956 death count of 561 killed and slightly below the 1955 toll of 547 dead.

Through the year, Commissioner Scarbrough warned repeatedly that Mississippi's primary cause of traffic accidents was driver carelessness. "Speed and carelessness always kill when they are combined," he said on several occasions.

according to the Internal Revenue Service, this is where taxpayers make the greatest number of errors.

Not all the money that may have come to you during 1958 needs to be reported on your tax form. For example, don't report:

1 - "Dividends" received on an insurance policy. They are considered merely a refund of part of the premium you paid.
2 - Social Security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act benefits, or payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

3 - Property or cash gifts received from other people, although the giver may have to pay a gift tax. Tips and other compensation for services must be reported, however.

4 - Inheritances and bequests. The estate may be taxed, but not the recipient.

If you were injured and received damages, this is not considered taxable income.

considered taxable income and it makes no difference whether your damages were awarded by a court or settled out of court.

When listing income you can also forget about most government benefits to veterans and their families. Dividends paid on veterans' Government insurance is not considered taxable income, but non-disability retirement pay and the interest on terminal leave bonds must be included.

If you were absent from work because of injury or sickness and received payments from your employer or his insurance company, these payments are non-taxable within these two limitations:

First, the maximum amount is $100 a week, plus any amounts which came from your own contribution to the plan.

Second, unless the absence was for sickness during which you were hospitalized for one day or for a personal injury, the payments are not tax free until after the first seven calendar days of absence.

Let Us Resolve

Open Letter To Mississippians

It has long been the custom among God-fearing men to make good resolutions at the turn of the year. We usually take an inventory of our shortcomings and achievements and then face the challenges and promises that lie before.

No statistics are needed to confirm the fact that Mississippi is in the throes of an agricultural and industrial revolution and revival. By diversifying crops and mechanizing operations, Mississippi farms become fewer and larger, and although industrial development is in its early stages, it already changes the economy and living habits of her people.

Reforestation grows in favor, and oil and gas fields multiply to give Mississippi a much-needed financial transfusion. Alert communities are on their toes as never before to boost commercial and cultural progress within the state.

To take immediate and full advantages of Mississippi's reawakening, and the opportunities it presents, we recognize the need for the creation of a climate still more conducive to investing capital, the necessity for working together in unity and with sympathetic understanding, a tax structure fair to all alike, and strict enforcement of our laws without fear or favor. We must have harmonious living conditions in which both business and workers may prosper. Our American system of private enterprise cannot survive without a fair profit.

Millions of idle dollars in America seek profitable investments in fields where they may enjoy the encouragement to compete in a free market. And millions of people are looking for locations where they may better themselves, in surroundings favorable to the formation of families and for the rearing of children. Whatever is best for us today must also be good for the rising generations.

Let us resolve then with the New Year to provide in Mississippi both a business climate and an environment under which capital and children may thrive, where men and money may multiply and prosper.

Let us resolve to make Mississippi the most inviting place on earth to live and to make a living. By suppressing social strife and economic friction, by working hand-in-hand and shoulder-to-shoulder to harmonious purpose, we can make Mississippi a land of promise and plenty in the pursuit of gain and of happiness. These are worthy objectives.

OPEN HOUSE AT Dave McDonald, Inc.

Corner of Ulman & Dunbar

Sat. Jan. 10th 8 A.M. to 3 P.M. No Sales Will Be Made During Open House

To the Residents of Hancock County:

Dear Friends,

Like thousands of other Young Men in the past and many more to come in the future, I have for quite some time had a growing desire to own and operate a little business of my own. Through this medium I wish to announce that my Company will open its doors for business on Monday January 12th at 8:00 A. M.

My Company will handle a full line of lumber and a complete line of building materials.

Folks, most of you have known me ever since I was a kid, so I hardly need tell you anything about myself, however, I would like to tell you a little about my business.

I have leased the property at the corner of Dunbar & Ulman Avenue and extending to Hiway 90. We have re-modeled the existing building on this property and have constructed a warehouse and large lumber shed in connection with it.

Our purpose is twofold. With our attractive show-rooms and display areas we hope to appeal to the housewife and the do-it-yourself builder. With our shed and yard efficiency, we hope to appeal to the Commercial builder and Contractor who consumes material in volume.

I have been in this type business for many years as you know and have tried to create the most attractive and efficient layout possible in this new location.

Our Company pledge will be to provide you with the best quality materials at reasonable prices and with courteous and prompt service at all times.

We will welcome the opportunity to discuss your building requirements with you and to assist you in any possible way. Give us a try, won't you?

Sincerely

Dave McDonald
